

Promoting British values

It is Little Learners aim to promote British Values by:

Democracy: making decisions together. As part of the focus on self-confidence and self-awareness as cited in Personal, Social and Emotional Development:

The staff will encourage children to see their role in the bigger picture, encouraging children to know their views count, value each other's views and values and talk about their feelings, for example when they do or do not need help. When appropriate demonstrate democracy in action, for example, children making their own choices when it comes to play in the rooms i.e. asking the children what they would like to do in the home corners, make and do areas and showing the children how to compromise and listen to others ideas.

Staff will support the decisions that children make and provide activities that involve turn-taking, sharing and collaboration. Children should be given opportunities to develop enquiring minds in an atmosphere where questions are valued.

Rule of law: understanding rules matter as cited in Personal Social and Emotional development as part of the focus on managing feelings and behaviour:

Staff will ensure that children understand their own and others' behaviour and its consequences, and learn to distinguish right from wrong. Staff will collaborate with children to create the rules and the codes of behaviour, for example, to have agreed rules and ensure that all children understand rules apply to everyone.

Individual liberty: freedom for all as part of the focus on self-confidence & self-awareness and people & communities as cited in Personal Social and Emotional development and Understanding the World:

Children should develop a positive sense of themselves. Staff provide opportunities for children to develop their self-knowledge, self-esteem and increase their confidence in their own abilities, for example through allowing children to take risks on an obstacle course, mixing colours, talking about their experiences and learning.

Staff will encourage a range of experiences that allow children to explore the language of feelings and responsibility, reflect on their differences and understand we are free to have different opinions, for example in a small group discuss what they feel about transferring into Reception Class.

Promoting British values

Mutual respect and tolerance: treat others as you want to be treated. As part of the focus on people & communities, managing feelings & behaviour and making relationships as cited in Personal Social and Emotional development and Understanding the World:

Staff should create an ethos of inclusivity and tolerance where views, faiths, cultures and races are valued, and children are engaged with the wider community.

Children should acquire a tolerance and appreciation of and respect for their own and other cultures; know about similarities and differences between themselves and others and among families, faiths, communities, cultures and traditions and share and discuss practices, celebrations and experiences.

Staff encourage and explain the importance of tolerant behaviours such as sharing and respecting other's opinions.

Staff promote diverse attitudes and challenge stereotypes, for example, sharing stories that reflect and value the diversity of children's experiences and providing resources and activities that challenge gender, cultural and racial stereotyping.

Staff, parent, carers must have respect for one another, they must not speak to one another in a threatening or unruly manner. If a parent or carer has concerns, they must follow our complaints policy.
